The direction-post that I lanetl agin wasnt more fixed than was myself, and I kapes a stedfast gaze, unfortunit divil that I was, until I felt my very heart craping up to my eyes, jest to have a look. The thing was done, and from that moment I had a mortal unasiness upon me, and I found that I was over head and ears in love with McBridess daughter and her snow-white nightcap. From that day forards I couldnt prevint myself from having all my corn ground at the mill in very small parcels, and warnt my feelings ground and ground, and my heart almost a dhry powder with continually looking into Mary McBrides bright blue eyes, and feeling her merry little laughs tingle and ring right to my finger ends, and down to the very soles of my boots....
